Welcome to the 2017 Valley of the Moon Music Festival! We are so excited to be back in Sonoma for our third season, presenting great chamber music on historic instruments. We are delighted with our lineup of performers from around the world—some new faces and some of our favorite artists from past years—and with this year’s exceptionally talented Apprentices. Once again the Sonoma community has welcomed us with open arms and we are honored to be here.

This year we wanted to try something different: letting a brilliant composer curate the festival. This summer’s theme is “Schumann’s World: His Music and the Music He Loved—Bach, Beethoven, Chopin and others.” Not only was Robert Schumann a brilliant composer, but he was one of the most imaginative and entertaining music critics who ever lived. We look forward to sharing some fascinating programs with you inspired by the thoughts, opinions and fancies of a great musical genius.

We thank the Hanna Boys Center, our tireless Board and staff, our Apprentices, musicians, donors, musician hosts and wine partners. And we are so grateful to you, our audience: both those who have been coming to our concerts since the very beginning and those who are new to us this year. Please join us on the patio after concerts to enjoy a glass of local wine. We look forward to greeting old friends and meeting new ones!

Eric Zivian, co-founder and Music Director
Tanya Tomkins, co-founder and Artistic Director
It is part of our festival’s mission to present Classical and Romantic music on period instruments: instruments in use when the music was written, or authentic reproductions thereof. The larger forte-piano you are hearing in these concerts is an original piano built in Vienna in 1841 by Franz Rausch. The string players are using gut strings (instead of the metal strings normally used today) and bows appropriate for the 19th century. By performing on period instruments with attention to historical practices, our musicians aspire to get as close as possible to how Schumann might have heard this music during his lifetime.
Valley of the Moon Music Festival is the first and only festival in the U.S. devoted exclusively to presenting the chamber music of the Classical and Romantic eras, performed on original period instruments.

A key part of the Festival is our Apprenticeship Program, a residential program for students and young professionals. During the two weeks of the Festival, Apprentices take part in an intensive exploration of chamber music from the Classical and Romantic period, gaining a deeper understanding of this repertoire through exposure to original instruments.

This year, thanks to the generous support of a few sponsors, we have finally achieved our dream of making the Apprenticeship Program tuition-free. We would like to thank our Apprentice sponsors (listed below) for making it possible for these wonderful young musicians to participate in our program.

Our five Apprentices for 2017 come from as far away as Venezuela and as close by as San Francisco. They have studied at distinguished schools, including Juilliard and Indiana University’s Jacobs School of Music, and have performed all around the world with renowned artists, festivals, orchestras, and chamber groups. You can find bios and photos of the Apprentices on pages 21-30.

CONVERSATIONS WITH KATE:
SCHUMANN - THE COMPOSER AS JOURNALIST

Enjoy a picnic lunch from Girl & the Fig while partaking in a discussion with bassoonist and Harvard Musicologist Kate van Orden.

Robert Schumann wrote passionately throughout his life: editorials, reviews, letters, and personal journals, including a “marriage journal” kept with Clara. This lunchtime conversation explores his favorite musicians, from his fictional friends in the Davidsbündler, sworn to combat philistinism, to Paganini, Chopin, and the up-and-coming Johannes Brahms, who ultimately threatened to steal Clara’s heart. Come discuss the musical genius at the center of this year’s festival with Kate van Orden and festival musicians.

Kate van Orden, classical bassoonist, studied modern bassoon at Sweelinck Conservatorium in Amsterdam and baroque bassoon at the Koninklijk Conservatorium in The Hague. She studies the French and Italian Renaissance and is the Dwight P. Robinson, Jr. Professor of Music at Harvard University. Her books include Music, Discipline, and Arms in Early Modern France (2005), which won the Lewis Lockwood Award from the American Musicological Society, and a series of books on print culture, including (ed.) Music and the Cultures of Print (2000); Music, Authorship, and the Book in the First Century of Print (2014); and Materialities: Books, Readers, and the Chanson in Sixteenth-Century Europe (2015), which won the bi-annual book prize from the Society for Renaissance Studies. Last year she was awarded a Medaille d’Honneur for outstanding contributions to our understanding of the Renaissance.

KYLE STEGALL

Kyle Stegall’s performances around the world have been met with accolade for his “blemish-free production” (Sydney Morning Herald), “lovely tone and ardent expression” (NY Times), as well as his “lively and empathetic delivery” (San Francisco Classical Voice). An artist who communicates equally well on the concert, opera, and recital stages, his performances are characterized by an unfailing attention to style and detail. Mr. Stegall’s successful solo debuts in Japan, Australia, Vienna, Italy, Singapore, and Canada as well as on major stages across America have been in collaboration with many of the world’s most celebrated artistic directors including Manfred Honeck, Joseph Flummerfelt, William Christie, Nicholas McGegan, and Jeffrey Thomas, among others. Holding a special relationship with the music of Benjamin Britten, Mr. Stegall was twice invited to participate as a fellow in the Aldeburgh Music Festival, in the composer’s hometown of Suffolk, England. Kyle has been heard in recital singing all of the composer’s cycles for tenor. Praised for possessing an “ability to absorb viewers into the action, something which is rarely achieved in opera,” (SF Classical Voice) has made him a popular choice for the leading lyric tenor roles in the works of Mozart as well as in operas of the Bel Canto era. www.kylestegall.com
